INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY REPORT ON PATENTABILITY

International application No.

PCT/SE 2004/000390

Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	1-18	YES
	Claims		NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	1-18	YES
	Claims		NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-18	YES
	Claims		NO

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

Documents cited in the International Search Report:

D1: EP 1 014 639 A2

D2: Tonello, A.M. et al. "Analysis of the uplink of an asynchronous multiuser DMT OFDMA system impaired by time offsets, frequency offsets and multi-path fading"

D3: Patent Abstract Of Japan & JP 10 308716 A

D4: Patent Abstract Of Japan & JP 2001 069110 A

D5: Baum, K.L. "A synchronous coherent OFDM air interface concept for high data rate cellular systems"

The cited documents represent the general state of the art.
The invention defined in claims 1-18 is not disclosed by any of these documents.

The cited prior art does not give any indication that would lead a person skilled in the art to the claimed methods, communications system and transmitting and receiving device for control of the guard interval based on the geometric size of the cell in which the transmitting unit is located.

Therefore, the claimed invention is not obvious to a person skilled in the art.

Accordingly, the invention defined in claims 1-18 is novel and is considered to involve an inventive step. The invention is industrially applicable.

However, the claims must be clear and concise and correspond with the invention revealed in the description (see further box VIII).

Box No. VIII Certain observations on the international application

The following observations on the clarity of the claims, description, and drawings or on the question whether the claims are fully supported by the description, are made:

Claims 1, 16 and 18

The term "the size of the cell" used in claims 1, 16 and 18 is vague and unclear and leaves the reader in doubt as to the meaning of the technical features to which it refers, thereby rendering the definition of the subject-matter of said claims unclear (Article 6 PCT), i.e. the claims must specify the term "the size of the cell", make clear that the guard interval is controlled based on the geographical radius of the cell.

Claim 11

It is clear from the description on page 8, line 15 - page 9, line 10 that the following feature is essential to the definition of the invention:

(1) The guard interval is adjusted to the cell radius in which the transmitting unit is located.

Since independent claim 11 does not contain this feature it does not meet the requirement following from Article 6 PCT taken in combination with Rule 6.3(b) PCT that any independent claim must contain all the technical features essential to the definition of the invention.

Claims 1, 11, 16 and 18

Further, claims 1, 11, 16 and 18 do not meet the requirements of Article 6 PCT in that the matter for which protection is sought is not clearly defined. The claims attempts to define the subject-matter in terms of the result to be achieved which merely amounts to a statement of the underlying problem. The technical features necessary for achieving this result should be added, i.e. the claims must make clear how the guard interval is controlled by the cell radius. It is not enough to say that it is controlled, the claim must explain how it is controlled, i.e. explain the relation between the geographical cell radius and the guard interval.
